Dear Parishioners,

November is here and daylight savings time has ended. It is harvest time and the month in which we remember those we love who have fulfilled their time on earth and have been "harvested" home to the God from whom they came. Perhaps, when you've been at a funeral, you've had the same thought that I have: how blest we are to know that death really isn't the end of life. We who believe know in our bones that we will see those we love again and that they are safe in the arms of the God who created them and blessed them throughout life. After my parents died, I often thought of how we were still in relationship with each other every time I received the Lord in Holy Communion. They also received Communion every week and treasured His presence. Our being "one bread, one body" doesn't just mean with all the believers throughout the world, but also with those we know by name, our family members and our friends in the parish who share our faith.

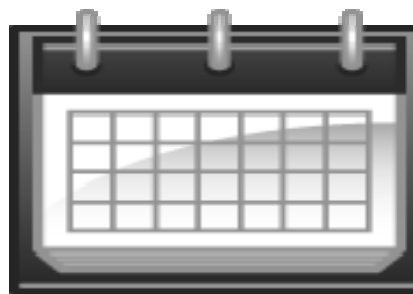

And our being in one family with all those whom God created and loved also means that we need to do our part and vote! Pope Francis has been very clear that we need to work for the common good and voting is an aspect of that. "Let us never lose hope! God loves us always, even with our mistakes and sins," he has said. If you haven't voted yet, go online to "Forming Consciences for Faithful Citizenship," the official voter guide from our nations' bishops, especially Part II.

I also want to thank you for all the toiletries you've donated to St. Anthony's next door neighbor, the Gubbio Project. In the pews of St. Boniface Church, the staff offers "sacred sleep" to homeless people from 6 am til 3 pm each weekday, including breakfast prepared by various companies in downtown San Francisco. The staff there is most grateful for the thousands of containers of shampoo, soap, and deodorant which you've given.

May our gracious God continue to fill us with gratitude for all that has been showered on us and may we find ways to share that goodness!

S. Sheral
